[Qualitative Information Pertaining to Consolidated Operating Results]

Through the third quarter (from April 1, 2006 to December 31, 2006), concerns persisted that higher oil prices and the housing market slowdown in the United States would affect the global economy, but personal consumption and capital investment increased and the U.S. economy grew at a steady pace. In Asia, conditions for business expansion remained favorable centered on China's economy, which continued to grow at a rapid rate. In the Euro zone, economic recovery was seen in Germany and France, and Great Britain's economy also

In Japan, a gradual economic recovery was sustained despite slower expansion of personal consumption, as a result of strong growth in capital investment that reflected higher corporate earnings and growth in business demand.

In the electronics industry, global expansion in the demand for LCD televisions and plasma televisions was noted, but the severe business environment continued as competition also intensified further and prices of manufactured goods fell rapidly.

Under these conditions, consolidated net sales for the Funai Electric Co., Ltd. group for the first through the third quarter of the current consolidated fiscal year increased 1.1% from the same period of the previous consolidated fiscal year to 283,070 million yen.

By device type, sales in the audio-visual equipment category declined for VCRs, where the market itself is shrinking, and for televisions and DVD player-related products, but sales of LCD televisions, plasma televisions and DVD recorder-related devices rose substantially. Consequently, net sales in this category of devices rose 8.9% year-on-year to 191,093 million yen.

In addition, net sales of information and communication equipment fell 13.0% from the same period of the previous consolidated fiscal year to 72,328 million yen. Sales of both printers and digital still cameras declined under the impact of increasingly severe competition.

In other devices, net sales of receivers and other related electronic devices decreased 8.7% year-on-year to 19,648 million yen.

In terms of earnings, operating income declined 15.1% from the same period of the previous consolidated fiscal year to 19,098 million yen, ordinary income fell 12.9% year-on-year to 23,269 million yen, and third quarter year-to-date net income decreased 22.1% year-on-year to 15,879 million yen.

[Qualitative Information Pertaining to Shifts in Consolidated Financial Position]

The financial position of Funai Electric Co., Ltd. at the end of the third quarter is discussed below.

Total assets increased by 22,584 million yen compared to the end of the previous consolidated fiscal year. The primary factor for this rise was an increase of 26,133 million yen in inventories.

Liabilities rose by 15,441 million yen compared to the end of the previous consolidated fiscal year. This mainly reflected a decrease in short-term borrowings of 19,038 million yen, and an increase in trade notes and trade accounts payable of 28,631 million yen.

Net assets increased by 7,477 million yen compared to the end of the previous consolidated fiscal year.

On June 28, 2005, Funai Electric received notification from the Osaka Regional Taxation Bureau of a supplementary tax assessment. The notification indicated that based on its judgment that Funai's Hong Kong subsidiary (a consolidated subsidiary) does not fulfill the requirements for exclusion from application of the tax system for dealing with tax havens, the bureau considers the Hong Kong subsidiary's income for the three-year period from the fiscal year ended March 2002 through the fiscal year ended March 2004 to be income of the Company. The Company believes the bureau's decision is an unwarranted tax assessment based on an erroneous interpretation of the facts, and has filed a request for reinvestigation with the Osaka Regional Tax Tribunal and filed a complaint for rescission with the Osaka District Court. The Company believes it will become clear through the appeal process that the Company has correctly reported in accordance with applicable tax rules. Therefore the Company accounted for the additional corporate, residence and business tax payments, which amounted to 16,600 million yen (19,100 million yen including penalties) as "Investment and Other Assets" on its consolidated balance sheet.

For reference purposes, the effect from taxation of Funai Electric Co., Ltd.'s Hong Kong subsidiary's income since the consolidated fiscal year following the year subject to investigation (i.e., the period ended March, 2005) is estimated at approximately 4.2 billion yen and 5.4 billion yen for the periods ended March 2005 and March 2006, respectively, including corporate, enterprise and residence taxes. For the reason described above, Funai Electric Co., Ltd. has not accounted for these taxation effects.

Funai Electric Co., Ltd. also issued a press release dated November 16, 2006 concerning the details of its request for reinvestigation and complaint for rescission.

[Qualitative Information Pertaining to Financial Forecasts]

Sales of information equipment centering on printers have been continuously in a good shape in line with the projection. Sales of audio visual equipment are expected to be mixed for the full year. DVD related products are expected to gain compared with both the results of previous year and the projection. On the other hand, other major products of LCD televisions and projectors in the audio visual equipment are likely not to reach the projection in the midst of continued fierce competition.

On the other hand, the profit, although the yen value is on the positive side, the negative side adversely affected by ongoing sales price falling under the conditions of fierce competition is most likely to bring the full year profit downward.

As a result of comprehensively reviewing and evaluating various factors, Funai Electric Co., Ltd. has revised its consolidated full-year financial forecasts as shown above. (The non-consolidated full-year financial forecasts have not been revised.)

The comparison with the revision of consolidated full-year financial forecasts publicly made in the release of the interim financial results dated November 8, 2006 is as follows.

【Consolidated】		(Million yen)
	Net Sales	Operating income	Ordinary Income	Net Income

(Reference) Full-Year Results in the Previous Year	360,885	23,305	27,461	21,596

NOTE: The aforementioned estimates are forward-looking statements about the future performance of Funai Electric Co., Ltd. and are based on management's assumptions and beliefs in light of information currently available, and involve known and unknown risks and uncertainties. Various factors such as a change in economic conditions overseas (especially changes in the main U.S. market and other markets) and severe price fluctuations may cause actual events and results to differ materially from those anticipated in these statements.
